Galop-Skating SUICIDE.-Last Saturday morning, two Chiname

called at the Station House with some food for a Chinese friend who was confined for deserting bound service. In a loaf of bread brought by them was found a piece of opium for their friend. They were arrested for the offense of furnishing the contraband drug. On Sanday morning, one of the opium sup-pliers was found dead in his cell, having hung himself with his own cue during the night. Attention was directed to the remaining two, and during the day the one who had been arrested for desertion was found to be making preparations to follow the exam-ple of his deceased friend. As a precautionary measure, his tail was removed, and he still lives.

ENTERTAINMENT AT KAWAIAHAO CHURCH -- We are requested to say that Prof. R. G. Wells, the balloonist, will give an entertainment at the above Church this evening, at 74 o'clock, consisting of accounts of thrilling adventures in the air and on the Earth for thirty years. Nitric Oxide, or what is known as laughing gas will be administered to a few persons, and some experiments will be shown in electricity. Professor also says he will suspend a person in the air by the air! The prices of admission will be $1, and 25 ets for the galleries. We learn also that Mrs. Wells will lecture to the ladies on Phrenology, at the same place on Thursday evening next.

KAWAIAHAO CEMETERY -A correspondent asks us to call attention to the dilapidated and dirty condition of the cemetery grounds adjoining th Kawaiabao Church, and compares the same unfavorably with the neatly kept appearance of the Catholic Cemetery on the Waikiki road. We presume the disreputable appearance presented by the former grounds is owing to the fact that "what is everybody's business is nobody's busipess." The affairs of the Church building and grounds are, we understand, managed by a Board of Trustees. Perhaps their pride in this matter might be aroused by a personal appeal. Over a year since, any futher interments were forbidden in the Kawaiahao Cemetery.

LOCATION OF THE PROPOSED PUBLIC HALL.-This will not of course be finally decided until after a definite proposition has been made and acted upon at a regular meeting of the subscribers; but we hear that there is considerable discussion on th question. It is argued by some, and with conenong which are MERIDEN QUADRUPLE PLATED WARE in siderable justness, that a site should be chosen in great variety. Rustic story of the building can be let for stores, thereby Cabinet and Card Frames, Childrens, Toilet sets, assorted providing a fund to keep the whole in repair Another advantage of this plan would be that the Hall itself would be elevated from the ground, and thus ensure fresh air. Various locations have been suggested, more or less eligible for the purpose. We understand that Mr. J. F. nicle of Nov. 18, is an item to the effect that a body, identified as that of Henry Thompson, a lawyer, was found floating in the bay on the morning of the 17th. Mr. Thompson was a native of this city, a son of the late Samuel Thompson, and his mother sisters and brothers reside here. A letter re ceived by W. Claude Jones, Esq., from Mr. Crosby of San Francisco, with whom Mr. Thompson had an office, says: "The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from unknown causes. We understand the work is to be had by subscription Avenue. They had drank together some small beer, but he was very slightly if at all affected by it. He then left, saying he was going home. It is surmised that he went to the water front to make some arrangements to put these sailors in some other boarding house, and that becoming involved in some trouble was murdered. I know of no reason for this theory however. About a year ago he had some difficulty with the Consul, Mr. Severance, on account of some sailors. He induced them to change their house, and was in consequence assailed by a runner with verbal abuse and threats, but no actual violence. His death could hardly have resulted from such an old affair.'

BRIEF MENTION.

DEATH'S Doings .- Our community was startled by the announcement on Saturday afternoon last, of the death of Mr. S. L. Lewis, a well known dry goods dealer on Nuuann street, Mr. Lewis had gone to his residence on Beretania street at noon, and was sitting at the dinner table conversing pleasantly with his wife and children, when he suddealy tell over sad expired. A post mortem examination revealed the cause to have been aneurism. He was much respected by all who knew him for

-On the 1st instant, Mr. Charles H. Rose, of the firm of Wilder & Co., died at his residence in this city of malarial fever, after an illness of two weeks. Few men will be more missed in business circles, where he was deservedly popular, than Mr. Rose. He was born in New York City in 1838, and at the age of 15 removed with his family to Waverly, New York. At the call of President Lincoln for 100,000 ninety days volunteers, he enlisted, June 30, 1863, in Company A, 35th Regi-ment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and held the posi-of first sergeant, being honorably discharged at the expiration of his term of service. After the war he went into the whaling service, and arrived at Honolula Oct. 24, 1865, his ship having been burned by the rebel cruiser, Shenandoah. He very soon found employment here as a book-keep-er and accountant, in which he was quick and accurate. He leaves a wife and three children here, to whom he was devotedly attached and who are parents in charge of an elder child which went off to play, rolled down a bank into the stream, and was ter and brother in the United States, besides one

THE FOLLOWING from a journal of high standing is an important paper, especially for the information of those people who are opposed to Chinese immigration, but cannot prescribe a remedy. It will be seen that the Australians have served the proper physic. It may be thought by some that such severe measures would not do bere at present; but taxation, under judicious legislation is the only way to properly meet the difficulty. The Gazette presents the " labor question " in the abstract as an excuse for supporting Chinese immigration, charging this paper with ignorance of the subject, etc. Would it not be better for the writer in the Gazette to ny, Kamehameha V's Minister for Foreign Affairs present some argument in support of his theory, whatever it may be, instead of charging others with ignorance of a subject which he avoids him-

We do not mean the terrible maledy which is scourging Memphis, and awakening everywhere the deepest sympathy : the yellow agony is the phrase by which the Australians describe the Chinese Immigration. For the Chinese question in not pecumigration. For the Chinese question in not peculiar to San Francisco. It has vexed our brother Bull in Australia, and he has taken the most peremptory measures, so that the Chinaman is now practically excluded from a large part of the country. It seems, as Mr. Wisker tells the story in the Fortnightly, that Australia has been exposed to the trouble of three kinds of people—the aboriginal, who is black, the Polynesian, who is of any tint from opper to black, and the yellow Chinaman. Of these the Chinase swarm upon the Australian continent the Chinese swarm upon the Australian continent. In Queensland, in a total population of little more than 200,000, there are 20,000 Chinese. In the Queensland gold mines at the end of the year 1877 Music-The Band will play this afternoon at there were 17,908 miners, and of these only 4684 Europeans, and the remainder, 13,269, were Chinese. The question was imperative. The Chinese were overrunning the colony. Should it be allowed to become Chinese? There were treaty obligations, and the employer's right to get his work done cheaply; but there was also the undisputed right of the The story of the Chinese appearance in Australia is a curious repetition of that of California. After a short and not disagreeable experience of cheap in-bor and small industries, there was a reaction, and resolute hostility ended in repressive legislation such as California seeks. The Chinese could not be kept out forcibly. They could not be hanged upon arri-ving. The white man, therefore, must be protected by a duty on the yellow man. The Chinaman was required to pay £3 for a miner's license, when the ordinary fee is 10 shillings; and £10 for a business license, while Europeans pay but £4 This was fol-lowed by a regulation that the master of every ves-sel bringing Chinese passengers should deposit with sel bringing Chinese passengers should deposit with the Collector £10 for each one of them, which should be returned to the Chinaman when he left the country, if he could then prove what nine out of ten certainly could not prove. It was further enacted that no vessel should carry more than one Chinese pas-senger for every ten tons of registry. Under this regulation it costs £30 to transport one man from Hong-Koog, and it is virtually a prohibition These laws, however, did not reach the Chinese already in the country who had mining licenses, so another act forbade all Chinese from mining on new gold fields; and a field is "new" for three years after proclamation, so that the Chinese can hostile, but efficacious. In the year 1875 there were 7254 Chinese arrivals in Queensland, 6555 in 1876, and 7460 in 1877. But in 1877 the hostile acts were passed, and since their passage there have not been 200 immigrants. The adjoining colony of New South Wales, where the foreign proportion of population is smaller, has adopted similar legislation. The author of the article does not argue the question. He holds that it is one of self-preservation, and that no European community would suffer itself to be swamped by a horde of Asiatics, with which it can no more mix than oil with water, and whose coming is "merely tempting Providence." When the Chinese debate is resumed in Congress, there is no doubt that the Australian precedent will be cited .- Harper's Weekly, Aug 16.

Konala, Nov. 28th, 1879. DEAR EDITOR: A game of base ball was played in this district on Friday, the 28th, between two picked nines, one formed of the young men residing "outside," and the other from the "inside." Some of the players did remarkably well. We note in the outside nine the three Mr. Rentons, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Brady, together with Mr. Bivene, who as short stop was very active Mr. Buchanan of the Inside, did splendid work behind the bat, as well as did Dr. C. L. Tisdale, who pitched in fine form throughout the game. W. J. Sheldou, on first base was perfect. Young Dr. Wight seemed overloaded by his newly earned degree of M. D., and was not guilty of stopping a ball. Mr. Dyer, the resident school teacher. is more at home with his bat in his school room than on the ball ground. Mr. Hinds, of the "Outside," Rept his eyes so much on the young ladies present that he lost numerous chances to cover himself with that he lost numerous chances to cover him glory. Dr. Thompson acted as Umpire, and though as usual there was some growling at his decisions. they were in the main satisfactory to all parties. There was a large gathering of Ladies and cientlemen of the district, who seemed well pleased with the sport. The day was ended by a fine collation pre-sided over by the Ladies of the district, who realized
